Santa Fe County Has a Map to Guide Your Outdoor Adventure

New Interactive Trails Map

The Santa Fe County Geographic Information Systems (G.I.S.) division created an online interactive trails map that is now available to the public. The map includes hundreds of miles of trails throughout Santa Fe County, including County trails and Santa Fe National Forest, City of Santa Fe, and private land trails. (Check out the Map)

The map contains trail descriptions, elevation profiles, images, parking locations, and contact info. The map allows users to search for trails based on user type (hiking, mountain biking, horseback riding, backpacking) and include paved, soft surface single track, double track, trails and roads.

"Santa Fe County is rapidly becoming known for the high quality outdoors experiences that are available, and the trails infrastructure is consistently drawing positive reviews," said David Griscom, Economic Development Manager. He continued, "The new map is a valuable contribution to the emerging outdoor economy, and is the next step in highlighting Santa Fe as an outdoor recreation destination."

An app is being developed for Android and iOS mobile platforms.

You can check out the interactive map at www.santafecountynm.gov under Hot Topics or visit www.santafetruenm.gov.

Cinco on Cinco

Santa Fe County DWI Program Offers $5 Cab Ride Home May 5

The Santa Fe County DWI Program will offer the $5 subsidized Cab Ride Home program on Thursday, May 5, 2016. Partygoers, celebrators and anyone enjoying a drink out on the town can take the cab home for $5. Call 438-0000 between 5:30 pm and 2:30 am.

“The $5 Cab Ride Home is a mighty cheap way to beat a $5,000 DWI. Take advantage of cinco on cinco, don’t drive if you have been drinking, even a little, Think SaFe and take a Cab Ride Home,” said Lupe Sanchez, DWI Program Coordinator.

The Cab Ride Home program typically runs from 5:30 PM to 2:30 AM Friday and Saturday nights. The normal rate for the subsidized ride home is $5 per cab for 1-2 riders and $10 per cab for 3 or more. The DWI Program offsets the first $25 of these cab rides home. Patrons are responsible for any portion of the fare over $25.
