Dee Blanco – 3.19.26

Cañada de los Alamos is a community located adjacent to the SF National Forest and is rooted in it’s love and desire to protect the residential, rural lifestyle that is affordable and intergenerational; is strengthening emergency preparedness; able to guide limited development for it’s residents while optimizing robust communication throughout the diverse community residents.

Dawn Wingard – 3.25.26

Canada de Los Alamos, nestled in the SFNF, a traditional community along the old ancient trail, aspires to preserve, protect, support, and safeguard the environment and traditional cultural, character, through thoughtful use of natural resources and simple growth, in the spirit of respectful communication, collaboration, and connection with nature and each other, for generations to come.
