

SANTA FE COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Santa Fe, NM – December 26, 2024

Santa Fe County Clerk Katharine E. Clark Appointed to EI-ISAC Executive Committee

Santa Fe County is now at the forefront of national election security efforts. County Clerk Katharine E. Clark has been appointed to the Elections Infrastructure Information Sharing and Analysis Center (EI-ISAC) Executive Committee. The 12-member committee, composed of leaders from across the nation, provides strategic guidance to support the cybersecurity needs of election offices throughout the United States.

A National Leader in Election Administration and Innovation

Clerk Katharine E. Clark is a nationally recognized leader in election administration and innovation. She currently serves as Vice Chair of the Elections Subcommittee for the National Association of Counties and is a founding executive committee member of the Partnership for Large Election Jurisdictions.

This appointment reflects Santa Fe County's leadership in modern, secure, and accessible elections. In 2024, under Clerk Clark's leadership, Santa Fe County received the prestigious Guardian Award from the Election Center for its achievements in election security innovation. The county has implemented advanced tech-enabled election security protocols, modernized election infrastructure, and developed national award-winning programs to enhance security, accessibility, and transparency.

"Serving on the EI-ISAC Executive Committee allows New Mexico to have a direct voice in shaping the future of election security," stated Clark. "This is not just about protecting democracy at the national level—it's about ensuring that every New Mexican can trust and participate in the electoral process."

About the EI-ISAC

The Elections Infrastructure Information Sharing and Analysis Center (EI-ISAC) is a national community of more than 3,300 election officials and organizations. It provides cyber threat intelligence, best practices, and no-cost cybersecurity services to help safeguard election systems.
