Santa Fe County Clerk's Office to Livestream Ranked Choice Voting Tabulation on Election Night

Santa Fe County, NM — The Santa Fe County Clerk's Office will livestream the Ranked Choice Voting (RCV) tabulation rounds on Election Night, offering the public, candidates, and members of the media a transparent, real-time view of how the process unfolds — round by round — until a candidate achieves a true majority.

The livestream will be available across multiple platforms:

For convenience, the Clerk's Office has created a landing page with all livestream and results links in one place: Live Election Results: RCV Tabulation | Santa Fe County

“There’s no better way to build trust in the process than by letting voters see it for themselves,” said Clerk Katharine E. Clark. “This livestream shows democracy in motion — every round, every step of the count.”

The Clerk’s Office will begin running RCV rounds once a statistically significant number of ballots have been received and verified — meaning that all polling sites and nearly all absentee ballots have been processed and uploaded. The process is not expected to begin before 9:00 PM on Election Night.

In addition to the livestream, the New Mexico Secretary of State’s Office will post official statewide and local election results as they are reported throughout the night. View Official Results: electionresults.sos.nm.gov
